The picture above is Jack concentrating on staying upright wind surfing at last year's hugely successful Summer Camp in Guernsey. It was one of the many things that went well last year, so we're planning another island based Summer Camp with water activities - a little closer to home this year, though - we're off to the Isle of Wight.

We've stayed at Corf Campsite on the island before, but not for a while. It's an awesome base for a Summer Camp as it has it's own tidal creek that means we can swim from the campsite if we want to. It's also decently civilised with hot showers, etc!

This year's Summer Camp is from 21 - 29 August (Saturday to a week Sunday). We'll travel down on the Saturday, hit the ferry for the journey across the Solent (we haven't booked cabins...). Once we're on the island, it's sort out tents and then hit the beach.

The plan for the rest of the week will involve several more visits to the beach. It'll also involve Windsurfing, Horse Riding, Mountain Biking - and, our very new activity for this year - Hydro Zorbing! Yep - get strapped inside a large ball along with two others and a load of water and get taken to the start of the route. At the top of a hill...

So - it's going to be another top camp we reckon. The cost for the week is £180 - inclusive of all activities, food, transport, accommodation, which can be paid in three installments of £60. Let me know if the cost is an issue.

Those that want to go need to complete an online booking at <http://www.explorerscout.net/onlinecampbooking/onlinecampbooking.html> by 15 July.
